

-----
Title: By Friday: The Regency's Defeat

Author: Ebon Skull Scribe
-----

By Friday, last day of the May moon, the armies of the Shadow Conclave have defeated without mercy the troops of the Regency alliance.

Under the command of lord Smogg Azalin and Lamech, the Cult of Infernal Necromancy, the Order of the Ebon Skull, the Society of Arcane Shadows, the Stormreaver Orc Clan and the Scarlet Brotherhood have departed from the Infernal Swamps and reached the Twin Lakes before twilight, crossed the river and marched towards the Hedgeview. Scouts were sent, noticing only a few lightbringers near the mountains of Destard.

'That is enough hiding!' Smogg Azalin claimed. 'Let them know that we will wait for them at the Hedge Maze, and if they don't show themselves, we will claim it !' The warriors, impatient to raise arms, grinned and headed to the Maze.

The pathetic guardians of virtue finally rushed in to defend their land. For they were expected by a well commanded troop, regrouped and organized,
the first assaults, although they caused a few casualties in the ranks of Oblivion, did quickly turn into a man hunt. 'Kill them all until the last one!' shouted the sergeants.

Not long later, the hedge maze was covered with dead corpses wearing the already decaying colours of the lightbringers. The few survivors were captured and executed one by one by the shadow conclave army, splitted in death squads, roaming around the area to seek and kill them.